TWO CENTS

MAY ADD ANOTHER BOAT IN THE LOCAL PASSENGER TRADE

Launch Makes Many Trips Daily Between Charleroi and Fayette City

TRADE IS VERY ENCOURAGING

C. L. Chester, who is operating the gasoline launch "C. B." between Charleroi and Fayette City, contemplates adding another boat in the trade, because of the success of the initial venture. This additional boat may not be added before next year, but it may be that demands of traffic will cause him to change his mind and put another launch in commission this fall.

This boat, the first to attempt passenger transportation on the river for a number of years, was not built originally for local service, but with a view of being taken south. However, in order to try out the launch Mr. Chester began making trips between Fayette City and Charleroi and in a short time the demand from the traveling public became such that he saw the possibilities of the trade and then determined to enter the boat permanently. This he has done and now he is carrying a large number of people between Fayette City and Charleroi, particularly employees of the Macbeth Evans glass plant, many of whom come from the up-river town.

Employees of Mr. Chester's boat, two of whom sleep in the cabin every night, have had a couple of exciting episodes during the past week. Last Saturday night, while the launch was tied up at the Belle Vernon wharf, some one "slipped her cables," and when the members of the crew woke up they found themselves adrift and on the way down the river. However, it did not take long to get the engines going and put the boat back at the wharf. On Monday night they had another visitation when they were held up on the boat by burglars, who stripped them of their money and valuables.

The boat makes very good time in accommodating a large number of people. The street car strike has no bearing on the operations of the boat, as Mr. Chester began trips before the strike was declared.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Day who recently sold their hotel property on McKean avenue, to Joseph Price, have purchased a home on Peak's Island, in the Portland harbor, Maine, and expect to leave for that place about the first of October, where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hornell of Youngstown, Ohio are spending a few days in Charleroi, coming to attend the Hornell reunion being held in Oakland park today.

The Ninth Street Liberty Boys defeated the Hill Top team in a ball game played last evening by a score of 10 to 5.

GREAT HALL CAINE NOVEL ON SCREEN

In securing the rights to produce "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" for the screen, one of the most notable novels of the past decade, was made available for photoplaygoers by the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and it has been released as a Paramount-Artcraft special.

"The Woman Thou Gavest Me," comes to the Coyle theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

The screen version is somewhat modified but retains the most interesting features and is withal a production declared to be absolutely one of the most compelling ever filmed.

DEATH BREAKS A LONG FRIENDSHIP

The Masontown correspondent of the Morning Herald of Uniontown under date of August 26th, calls attention to an incident in the life of the late George Walters, who died at his home in Speers last week. The writer says:

"Fifty-seven years ago, next Sunday morning (on a Sunday morning) two boys were standing on Main street in the village of Masontown. They were known as 'George' and 'Andy.' George proposed to Andy that they go to war to fight for their country's flag that had been assailed by its enemies. Andy immediately took to the suggestion and they went to the proper officer and were sworn into the service. They went into the service together, passed through many of the war's hottest battles, came home together and have been warm friends all these years. Last Sunday, a sad scene was enacted at West Belle Vernon, in which these two boys were the principals that called that large concourse of people together. George Walters was peacefully lying at rest in his casket and Sergeant A. J. Cunningham sat a mourner, being the last one living of that company. George Walters was a cousin of I. N. Lewis, the inventor of the Lewis machine gun, and was one of several Walters that took part in the Civil War. Sergeant Cunningham's ancestors and descendants have been in all the wars of our country. The minister, who preached Walters' funeral sermon, spoke feelingly of the incidents in the friendly lives of these two men. Charles Walters, the only brother that is left, attended the funeral from Masontown with Sergeant Cunningham."

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Sharpnack and daughter Dorothy, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pfeighardt returned last evening from an automobile trip which extended over a period of five days. They visited Frederick and Hagerstown, Md., Washington City, Mt. Vernon and Gettysburg and report a most enjoyable trip.

JAPAN IS THEME OF ATHENE CLUB

The Athene Club of Charleroi has issued its year book for the sessions of 1919-20 and a very attractive program has been prepared for the consideration of the members. Japan has been selected as the subject for study and as Japan and certain incidents in connection with the great world war are very much in the public mind at the present time, no doubt the topic will be of more than usual interest.

The first meeting of the year will be held Friday, October 3rd, with Mrs. J. Clive Enos as hostess. At that time the program will consist of the President's address, given by Mrs. Enos, followed by a reading, presentation of the program by Mrs. T. L. Pollock and will close with another reading. The subject for the club year will be studied from various phases and angles, and will embrace practically all of the characteristics of Japan life.

The officers of the club for this year are, Mrs. J. Clive Enos president, Miss Elizabeth Hastings first vice president, Mrs. Edwin McKay second vice president, Mrs. J. D. Berryman recording secretary, Mrs. A. O. Davis corresponding secretary and Mrs. F. C. Stahlin treasurer. The program committee consisted of Mrs. T. L. Pollock, Mrs. C. Argyle Keller, Mrs. D. E. Sloan and Mrs. C. S. VanVoorhis, while Mrs. Vivian Stewart will have charge of the music.

LECTURE WILL BEGIN AT 7 O'CLOCK P. M.

Attention is again called to the fact that the lecture to be given in the high school auditorium this evening by Dr. Russell Conwell will begin at 7 o'clock. It was compulsory to select this hour on account of the fact that teachers from Donora and Monongahela must leave on the 9:23 train. By opening at this hour Dr. Conwell will have sufficient opportunity to give his lecture in full to the teachers, all of whom are desirous of hearing him. Admission is free, but those desiring to attend must have a ticket, which can be secured from Prof. I. T. Daniel, at the high school building, or by making reservation by phone.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Carroll of Look Four, a daughter, Elizabeth Belle.

A very important business meeting of the Frances Willard Class of the M. E. church will be held at the home of Mrs. L. J. Mitchell Friday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

CONTEST TO FEATURE P. H. C. MEETINGS

At the regular meeting of Charleroi Circle, No. 33, P. H. C., held Wednesday evening in I. O. O. F. hall, it was decided to hold a literary contest. The Circle will be divided into two divisions, with Mrs. Laura McCoy in charge of No. 1 and William Cratty in charge of No. 2.

The object of this diversion is to increase the membership of the organization, as well as to increase the interest of the members in the Circle and its meetings. One of the features of the contest will be, that all those who secure five new members will be entitled to admission to the inner Circle degree, a banquet and free transportation to Uniontown in December. A boosters' club will be organized at the next meeting which promises to be quite an innovation.

District Deputy Joseph DaRoush has been commissioned to take charge of the local district, composed of Charleroi, Donora, Monongahela and Monessen. A new Circle may be organized in Belle Vernon during the coming winter, in which Charleroi members will assist.

The coming contest promises to be one of universal interest, as the members with one accord have entered into it with a will and a determination to assist the new Deputy.

Music and a social time, concluding with dancing, featured the session last evening.

BEGINNERS WILL REGISTER SATURDAY

Superintendent Pollock of the Charleroi public schools announced this morning that the principals of the various schools would be at their respective buildings on Saturday afternoon next, from 2 to 4 o'clock prepared to enroll beginners who will be six years old between September 1 and January 1. All such applicants must present a certificate of vaccination before admission to school from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Saturday prepared to enroll students for the high school. It is desired that all such applicants present themselves on Saturday, rather than on Monday, in order to prevent confusion on opening day, September first. A full corps of teachers has been elected for the schools and Prof. Pollock expects everything to move off in the usual manner on opening day.

A home bake sale will be held Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 5 o'clock in Fleming's Plumbing shop for the benefit of the Dames of Mal.

NO ADVERTISING SIGNS WILL BE ALLOWED ON STATE HIGHWAYS

DONORA BUYS CAR LOAD OF FOODSTUFFS

A car load of foodstuffs purchased by Donora from the United States army supplies, has been packed and shipped from Baltimore. A tracer will follow the car, so that it may not be sidetracked while enroute. The commodities, which went to Baltimore to make the purchase carefully selected all the goods and it is believed that the entire consignment will be rapidly disposed of, once it is on sale in the big steel town.

No doubt the verdict for Henry Ford was five cents damage and one cent war tax.

WILL ENFORCE

NEW MOTOR LAWS

The State Highway Department on Wednesday announced that on and after Sept. 15 it will ask the police authorities for a rigid enforcement of the provisions of Act No. 283, regulating the use, operation, etc., of motor vehicles.

In the opinion of the State Highway Commissioner, ample time will have elapsed from the approval of this law to permit of complete compliance with its requirements.

Arrangements have been made by the Department to put out a motor squad of inspectors, fully empowered to act and equipped with devices for checking and testing excessive weights, glaring lights, etc. Inspectors will also be used in checking up the establishments of dealers in second-hand motor vehicles and the records of public garages.

Specifications for light tests have also been prepared and the Department is now in position to make proper road and laboratory tests for controlling the front lights on motor vehicles, so that they shall comply with the provisions of this Act.

MANY ALIENS ARE LEAVING VALLEY

Sixty Croats left the West Brownsville station Monday afternoon on the 8:33 train for New York, where they will embark on September 4th for their native homes in Croatia. The party was made up of single men who had lived in the vicinity of West Brownsville, working as miners and coke drawers at the different coal and coke plants. This makes over 75 Croats who have left Brownsville and vicinity during the past week. Another party is expected to leave on or about the first of September. Men of other nationalities have been leaving the district in large number during the past few months, and as a consequence laborers are not as plentiful as they were a short time ago.

Business Men and Candidates Have Been Infringing People's Rights.

LESSENS THE BEAUTY OF ROADS.

The State Highway Department has issued a general order to all its county road superintendents, directing that the 10,235 miles of State Highways in Pennsylvania be stripped of advertising signs of every description. Under the laws of Pennsylvania, it is illegal to post or paste an advertisement of any kind within the legal limits of a State Highway.

Particular attention is called by the State Highway Department to the erection in eastern Pennsylvania of advertising cards in imitation of the Department's detour signs. Complaints have been received by the State Highway Department to the effect that travelers at night finding these imitation detour signs at cross-roads have been misled.

In many parts of Pennsylvania candidates for office have been so busy in posting their cards that in numerous instances the entire white-washed surface of the pole, extending six feet from the ground, has been hidden. Hotels have placed elaborate signs on poles within the highway limits. One case is reported where a hotel in a large city in an adjoining State placed enameled metal signs bearing the word "Danger" in places where no danger at all existed. The erection of these and similar misleading signs tends to make the traveler careless, so that eventually he disregards real danger signs.

On one State Highway route an enterprising proprietor of a rabbit farm decorated highway poles for several miles on both sides of his establishment with signs calling the attention of travelers to the location of his "rabbitory."

State Highway Commissioner Sadler in referring to the many thousands of signs which have been placed on State Highways said that their presence detracts from the natural beauty of the scenery and from the appearance of the roadways.

DISAPPOINTED

More than 50 young persons were turned away from our school last September, because we had no room to accommodate them. This condition was not caused by the war. For week. Another party is expected to leave on or about the first of September. Men of other nationalities have been leaving the district in large number during the past few months, and as a consequence laborers are not as plentiful as they were a short time ago.

SWINGING AROUND THE CIRCLE

It is now announced that President Wilson is to take his much advertised but long delayed "swing around the circle" within a short time, for the purpose of urging the acceptance of the peace treaty, together with the covenant of the league of nations.

This trip will take the presidential party across the continent, embracing a period of about 25 days, during which time all the larger cities will be visited and in which President Wilson is scheduled to speak on his favorite topic of the league of nations. Of course the purpose of this trip is to have the people urge upon the Senate the necessity of at once approving the treaty and covenant, and thus make this instrument effective, so far as the United States is concerned.

If the President persists in his purpose it will be the first time in the history of the country that such a procedure has taken place, but then Woodrow Wilson as President has done many things no other chief executive ever did, and possibly never thought of, but whether this new departure will be effective in having the desired results is a question yet to be determined. That there is a very determined opposition to many of the provisions of the peace treaty and the covenant there is no question; that they will be approved as they now stand is doubted and while the President may urge the people to have their Senators vote for the pact as presented to them, there will be others, and possibly the majority, who will just as strongly urge Senators to insist on modifications and against the proposition as a whole. There are many features in the pact that we believe are distasteful to the American people, and unless there is a modification the whole thing is likely to fall. The United States cannot afford to jeopardize any of the privileges of the people merely to satisfy the ambitions of any man or any party.

THE SENATE AND TREATIES

There seems to be some misapprehension as to the rights and duties of the United States Senate in the matter of making treaties. The constitution makes the Senate co-ordinate with the President in this important governmental function. The President negotiates, but no treaty can become operative without "the advice and consent of the Senate." The Treaty of Peace with the Covenant of Nations attached has reached the "advice and consent" stage and is hanging fire. The point of disagreement between the Executive and his supporters on the one hand and the opponents of the treaty as its stands is the Senator's right to alter the provisions by reservations and amendments.

It has been the practice of the Senate to exercise its right of reservation or amendment in any case where deemed advisable. That body has rejected treaties which it could not indorse, and such rejection has never been deemed an act of discourtesy. In 1869 Secretary Fish wrote to Mr. Morley: "The rejection by the Senate of the United States implies to act of discourtesy to the government with which the treaty may have been negotiated. Their (the Senate's) refusal can be no subject of complaint and give no occasion for dissatisfaction or criticism."

The Senate amended the Jay Treaty and the amendment was accepted by Great Britain. In fact, the Senate amended sixty-eight treaties that have been presented for acceptance, many of which have never been ratified in the original form. Where an amendment has been made and accepted by the other contracting nation the amendment has always stood as a part of the treaty.

OVER ITS TROUBLES

The passage of the Panama canal by an American fleet of six dreadnaughts, with an average time for each ship of ten hours, does not mean that we have already in Pacific waters a fleet that is capable of taking care of all possible comers from that direction. There are dreadnaughts, and formidable ones, in Pacific waters besides ours. We cannot manage the whole future by so simple a measure as that.

But the event does prove that the Panama canal has at last put its troubles with "sides" and "skinges" behind it and that, thanks to the care, vigilance and patriotic devotion of our army engineers, it is the solid and practicable water way that it was designed to be. It marks the canal's definite entrance upon its function as a part of the American coast line. It is there, and it is adequate to its purpose. There is even some leeway for still larger fighting craft. The gate is grandly open, and the "hand that opened the gate" shall forever hold the "key."

Perhaps Canada can induce the railroad brotherhoods to come over there and assume the operation of some of her government owned and politically controlled railroads. She would no doubt be delighted to turn them over to the brotherhood men if they will pay the deficit. There would be a splendid chance to prove the merits of the Plumb plan.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Special concessions to preferred classes of labor will not ease the economic situation. Constituting the vast majority are the unorganized workers of the country, the salaried, the professional man, the widows and others who must live on fixed incomes. These are the ones who suffer most, who complain least, who need consideration with the rest.

Even New York, where profiteering had its birth—where it was rocked in its cradle and grew to a virile state of strength—profiteering is to be investigated and more or less subdued. When New York gets after profiteers we may expect the devil to buy fire extinguishers.

An English writer asks what year of the last century produced the most distinguished living men, and answers his own question by voting for the year 1840, in which year Thomas Hardy, Edward Clodd, Austin Dobson and Richard Whiting were born. Curiously enough, each of these men brought out a new book during the year 1917. Mr. Dobson's book, referred to, is called "A Bookman's Budget," and contains many entertaining bookish stories. Here is one: "Lord Lytton advised his son: 'Do you want to get at new ideas? Read old books. Do you want to find old ideas? Read new ones.'"

Invented Cherokee Alphabet.

Sequoyah, inventor of the Cherokee alphabet, was one of the great men of the Indian race. He was a half-breed, whose English name was George Guess. His father was a white man and his mother a full-blood Indian woman.

Egypt's Coal Production.

The fuel question threatens to become serious in Egypt owing to the impossibility of obtaining adequate imports of coal. Government experts hope to solve the difficulty partially by developing a useful fuel from cotton stalks.

Strength of Housefly.

The ordinary housefly can lift a match between two of its feet and carry it. A human being, to perform a similar feat, would have to lift a beam 8 1/2 yards in length and 16 inches thick.

Neglect No Task.

The poorest way in the world to get along is to neglect the little task you have to do because you know you're capable of doing the bigger things.—Exchange.

SITUATION SEEMS TO BE IMPROVED

The street car employees of the Pittsburgh Railway company, now on a strike, held a meeting in Exposition hall, Pittsburgh, this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. It is expected that a vote will be taken on the proposition as to whether they will return to work or not. A new phase was injected into the controversy on Wednesday, when the United States Courts directed the United States Marshal at Pittsburgh to give such protection to the railway company lines as should be required in order to start the cars running. Conditions generally, however, are more hopeful than at any time since the inception of the strike two weeks ago.

HIT BY AUTO AND BADLY INJURED

Kenton Stallings of 149 Ida avenue, Donora, was badly injured shortly after midnight last night in Webster. Stallings had stopped his automobile in front of a garage opposite Willard's grocery in that town for the purpose of securing some oil, and while replenishing his supply, was run down by a big touring car which was being driven toward Monessen. Stallings was thrown at least thirty feet by the impact, and when taken up was found to be seriously injured. He was taken to the Memorial hospital, Monongahela, where it was announced this morning that it would be necessary to amputate one of his legs. The driver of the touring car, after the accident, never stopped to make inquiry, but continued on the way. It is not known whether his license number was secured or not. Mr. Stallings is an employee of the Donora mills.

Sincerity.
Sincerity is a powerful factor in handling men. Sincerity in this life is one of the most ennobling traits of the human race. But sincerity in the shop as well as in private life is a quality every one of us should develop. As applied to handling men, if you promise, a man anything see that he gets it. Do not promise something you cannot give. Treat all men alike and base all promises on that fact. Sincerity, I believe, can gain a foreman more respect than any other quality he may possess; more respect than the fact that he is the finest workman in the shop, or a good manager, or anything in which he may be superior to the general run of men. His recognized sincerity will crown him king of his department—Industrial Management.

Fortunate Babies.
There is one instance, at least, where a baby received a substantial bonus as a result of subscriptions raised by the inhabitants of the town where it was born. This was at Schomberg, near Berlin. With the arrival of the baby the population of the town reached the 100,000 mark, and according to rule, it attained the dignities and privileges of a "grossstadt" or large town. The inhabitants marked the occasion by raising a considerable sum of money for the baby. At Temesvar, in Hungary, £20,000 was once settled on a baby. The baby had been left at an orphanage and a visitor agreed to settle that sum of money on it if allowed to take it away and adopt it.

Buzzard's Wonderful Sight.
Many persons have thought that buzzards have an unusual sense of smell that guides them over miles of territory in search of food, but many years ago it was proved that sight is the principal factor in guiding the bird of prey. Audubon made careful experiments with a black vulture. The dry, stuffed skin of a deer which he placed out in the field soon attracted a vulture. Although there was no smell of flesh and nothing eatable about it, the bird lit and began tugging at the dry skin. Later, when the same bird circled over the field it espied a small snake not thicker than a man's finger and pounced upon it.

Driving Away Disease.
Well-known walkers have proved that the short cut to health is walking. Many of them say that through this exercise they have cured rheumatism, the exertion removing uric acid from the system. Another well-known pedestrian cured himself of Bright's disease by persisting in walking after being told that his cure was hopeless. I have known persons to cure persistent colds by vigorous walking. The exercise had the same result as a Turkish bath. Needless to say that one should not linger in the damp clothes when the walk is finished. They should be removed and a hot bath taken, followed by a cold shower.

ARE OF CHRISTIAN ORIGIN

Possibly Less Than Half the People of the Ottoman Empire Have Moslem Ancestry.

"Probably less than half of the men, women and children called Turks owe their ancestry to the Mongol and Moslem tribesmen who migrated from inner Asia to Anatolia," says George E.
White, D. D., in the American Review of Reviews. "Probably the larger part are of ancestry once reckoned Christian. This is confirmed by the fact that the physical characteristics of Mongols have largely faded out. They visibly persist in some, notably in Far-tars immigrant from the Crimea or the Balkan states, whose lineage is comparatively pure. This but emphasizes the differences in the case of the Anatolian stock.

"In the heart of what we call the Turkish empire approximately one-fourth of the population are avowedly Christian; approximately a fourth of the remainder, the Shias, are nearer in sentiment to Christians than to regular Mohammedans; a majority of the whole are of Christian origin.
Force has held them together until now, but blood will tell, and the principle of 'reversion to type' cannot be escaped. After careful observations continued during many years of residence in the country I am convinced that the Mohammedan Turks do not increase in numbers, possibly as the penalty of nature for the permission of polygamy, while the Ottoman Christians do increase rapidly unless checked by periods of massacre. If, then, some two million to five million
Mongol immigrants filtered into Asia Minor, their descendants possibly reach those numbers today; the rest of the population is to be credited with Christian ancestry."

TO RESTORE FAMOUS PARK

Bowling Green, With Its Ancient Fence, Will Again Become Showplace of New York.

Modern New York will probably better appreciate its Bowling Green fence, recovered and restored to view by the Broadway association, for the incidental publicity of the restoration.
When the fence was new, Bowling Green was an important part of the town, and the New Yorkers of 1770 considered it well worth while to import the fence from England and pay $800 for it. One is reminded that, shortly before the fence was put up, the loyal citizens, grateful for the repeal of the Stamp act, had adorned Bowling Green with a leaden equestrian statue of George III. For a while fence and statue stood there together; then the Revolution came, and the "Liberty Boys" pulled the statue from its pedestal. The fence remained till 1914, minus the gilt crowns that the "Liberty Boys" had hammered off the tops of the fence posts, but the famous park, lost in the growing city, was gradually neglected. When the fence returns to it, the park will be replanted with shrubbery, and Bowling Green made as much as possible like its historic self.

Insisted on Showing His Patriotism.

He was full of patriotism, was the elderly man walking up State street the other evening, and it is possible that an unprejudiced observer might have suspected that he had taken something else aboard during the hours' past. At any rate, he was most patriotic and the sight of a sturdy doughboy gladdened his wandering eyes. The boy was acting as conveyor to two maidens fair and wasn't particularly anxious to be sorted out for hero decoration at that moment, but the elderly man was not to be denied. He took off his cap with a flourish worthy the days of chivalry; he loudly proclaimed his everlasting obligation and appreciation of the courageous soldiers that saved the world;
he insisted on shaking hands, not once but thrice at least, with the young man whom he called "The savior of the country"—and he looked at the girls as if he thought his patriotism, expressed and partially understood, entitled him to an introduction to them.
The doughboy made his escape as quickly as he could, blushing exceedingly. And as he went along he confided to the girls: "Gee, I wish I would have got overseas as easy as the old geezer got half seas over."—Hartford Courant.

The Knightly Pledge.

"Wats this Knights Commander of the Bath decoration they're hanging onto our generals over in England?"
asked one wounded doughboy of another.

"Huh!" exclaimed his companion from Tennessee. "Reckon that must be th' prohibition division of the British service. All they gets to drink is the two well-known waters—hot and cold."

Not Exactly.

"Mother," said a small girl, after contemplating her baby brother for some time, "was I a baby once?"

"Yes, dear; we were all babies once."

"You and daddy, mother?"

"Yes."

"And grandfather?"

"Yes, of course!"

"What, mother?" exclaimed the child incredulously, "with that beard?"

To the Voters of Washington County:

The test of a man's ability to fill an important office is not the promises he is willing to make,
but the record of his work actually done in the interests of the taxpayers.

I invite the fullest investigation of my first term as County Commissioner, confident that you will approve my conduct of the office. It is a great pleasure to me to submit for your consideration a few of the things I have accomplished during the first three years of my administration. During this period, there has been spent the following amounts:

For building and maintaining county bridges.		For the maintenance of county roads.
1916	$20,950.95	1916	$43,132.29
1917	13,761.36	1917	47,570.69
1918	30,019.54	1918	79,986.29
Total	$64,731.85	Total	$170,689.27

When I assumed the duties of the office in 1916, the county owed the State of Pennsylvania over $60,000 for road work, that the Highway Department had completed in the county under the state-aid plan and which the county was unable to pay for lack of funds. This obligation was paid the first year I was in office and the total payments made for state-aid work have been as follows:

1916	$62,730.22
1917	3,516.69
1918	5,693.70
Total	$71,940.61

In the building of new roads, we have succeeded in going forward, notwithstanding all the handicaps of the war and for this purpose spent the following sums:

1916	$92,135.54
1917	115,451.62
1918	24,640.41
Total	$232,227.57

When I assumed office, I found outstanding road contracts amounting to $121,211.83, with cash in the road fund of $19,974.88, a deficit of $101,236.95. This amount has been paid off and on the first of January, 1919, there was a balance in the road fund not covered by any contracts already awarded of $31,287.75. The balance sheet of road improvement fund would show the following:

Date	Outstanding Contracts	Cash in Road Fund	Deficit	Surplus
Jan. 1, 1916	$121,211.83	$19,974.88	$101,236.95
Jan. 1, 1917	173,896.55	61,143.86	112,752.69
Jan. 1, 1918	79,779.60	81,662.06		$1,882.46
Jan. 1, 1919	23,306.12	54,593.87		$31,287.75

During the term road bonds were issued as follows:

1916	$125,000
1917	125,000
1918	None
1919	125,000
Total	$375,000

Notwithstanding that these bonds were issued and the indebtedness to the state was paid the bonded indebtedness of the county showed the following:

Jan. 1, 1916	$2,144,000
Jan. 1, 1919	2,109,000
Reduction	$35,000

This splendid financial showing is all the more creditable when the treasury balances in the general fund are given as follows:

1916	$94,322.45
1917	32,464.03
1918	140,247.12
1919	236,501.23

During the term, improvement in the county's finances is shown by the following:

Increase in cash, General Fund	$142,178.78
Increase in Road Fund Balance	34,618.19
Decrease in Bonded Debt	35,000.00
Total	$211,796.97

Beside this, the outstanding contracts for which the county was obligated were reduced about $100,000.

In addition to this excellent record of public improvements, the county built and equipped a modern addition to the County Home and two tuberculosis bungalows, at a cost exceeding $60,- 000.00. All this was done, and all these other permanent improvements were made without any increase in the tax levy, which has remained at 3-4 mills, making a splendid financial showing of which I feel justly proud.

If again nominated and elected to the office of County Commissioner, I pledge the same scrupulous care and economy in handling the people's money which has characterized my first term. I believe that with the experience I have had, I am better fitted to serve the interest of the taxpayers than I was three years ago. With the ending of the war, the way is open for a liberal policy of public improvement in Washington County and I pledge myself to go forward with this work as rapidly as the county finances will permit.

Asking you for a continuation of your confidence and for your support at the polls in September, I am, Very truly yours

JOHN O. WATSON
